

curious imagery — wedding pricing guide
2012

Capturing your wedding in all its beauty and quirks and then helping you share it with the people you love is what we do best. Your photos tell a story, and of course nobody has quite the same story. These packages should help you find the best fit for your day and style.

So take a deep breath, and have a look around.

Our Packages

We're committed to partnering with you as you plan your wedding. We want your photography to be as relaxed, fun, and stress-free as possible. We always provide hand-edited high resolution digital files with print rights.

Most couples find an existing package that matches their needs very closely, but if you'd like to add or substitute anything, we can make a custom package just for you.

About Curious Imagery

We are a husband and wife team from Seattle, Washington. We love clean, vibrant, spontaneous images that capture the story of your day and reflect the beauty of your relationships. But we are about more than just pictures. We're advocates who fight to keep beauty and child-like wonder in the world.

We believe that stories are sacred and, through the process of planning, capturing, and editing your photos, we become collaborators in your story.

We'd love to meet you!

If you like our work, we'd love to set up a no obligation meeting to answer your questions and get to know you. We can't wait to hear from you!
